Dr. William LaRue Jones - Conductor

About the Conductor

Dr. William LaRue Jones is one of the most active and versatile symphonic conductors in the United States today. He possesses the unique quality and ability to be equally effective with professional or amateur orchestras. Averaging more than 100 concerts a year, Dr. Jones appears with a wide array of professional, collegiate and festival ensembles throughout North and Central America, Europe and Asia.

The recognition of outstanding gestural skills and score analysis techniques has made Dr. Jones a sought-after teacher of conducting. The Orchestral Institute of America Conductor’s Workshop, where he serves as the founding Artistic Director, has achieved critical acclaim and is filled to capacity each year.

As founding music director/administrator of Greater Twin Cities’ Youth Symphonies, Dr. Jones established a multiple orchestra structure that has become an international model for youth orchestras. Serving more than 1,000 talented youth each year, it is the largest structure of its kind worldwide. He has also conducted All-State orchestras in more than 40 states.

Dr. Jones holds degrees from the University of Wisconsin, the University of Iowa and Kansas State University, with additional studies completed at the Juilliard School of Music and North Texas State.
